

Contributors

Michael Böss is Associate Professor of History and Irish Studies at University of Aarhus, Denmark, and Director of the Centre for Irish Studies at Aarhus. He is currently writing a book on the globalised nation state.

Seán Crosson is a lecturer at the Centre for Irish Studies, National University of Ireland, Galway, and is currently writing a doctoral thesis on music and song in contemporary Irish poetry.

John Foley is a lecturer at the Department of Philosophy, National University of Ireland, Galway. He is currently writing a book on Albert Camus.

Hedda Friberg is Lecturer in English at the Department of Humanities, Mid Sweden University, Härnösand, Sweden.

Irene Gilsenan Nordin is a senior lecturer at Dalarna University College, Sweden. She is the author of Crediting Marvels in Seamus Heaney's Seeing Things and currently completing a book on Eiléan Ní Chuilleanáin.

Billy Gray is a senior lecturer at Luleå University, Sweden.

Michael Griffin is a lecturer in the Department of Languages and Cultural Studies at the University of Limerick, Ireland.

Heidi Hansson is a senior lecturer in English at Umeå University, Sweden. She is currently finishing a book on the Irish writer Emily Lawless and editing a collection of essays on nineteenth-century Irish women's prose writing.

David Harding is Foreign Lecturer at the Department of English at University of Aarhus. His main area of research is American Studies with a focus on Native American Studies.

Emily L. Kader earned her Master's degree from Wake Forest University in May 2004. The title of her thesis is: 'Questioning the Function of Exile in the Irish Literary Tradition: Drama by Three Women Playwrights'.

Nordic Irish Studies

Enda Leaney has a D.Phil. in the History of Science from the University of Oxford and is completing a book on the social history of science in 19th century Ireland.

Agnès Maillot is a lecturer at Dublin City University.

Bairbre Ní Chiosáin is a lecturer at University of Toulouse.

Lene Yding Pedersen is an assistant professor at University of Aalborg, Denmark.

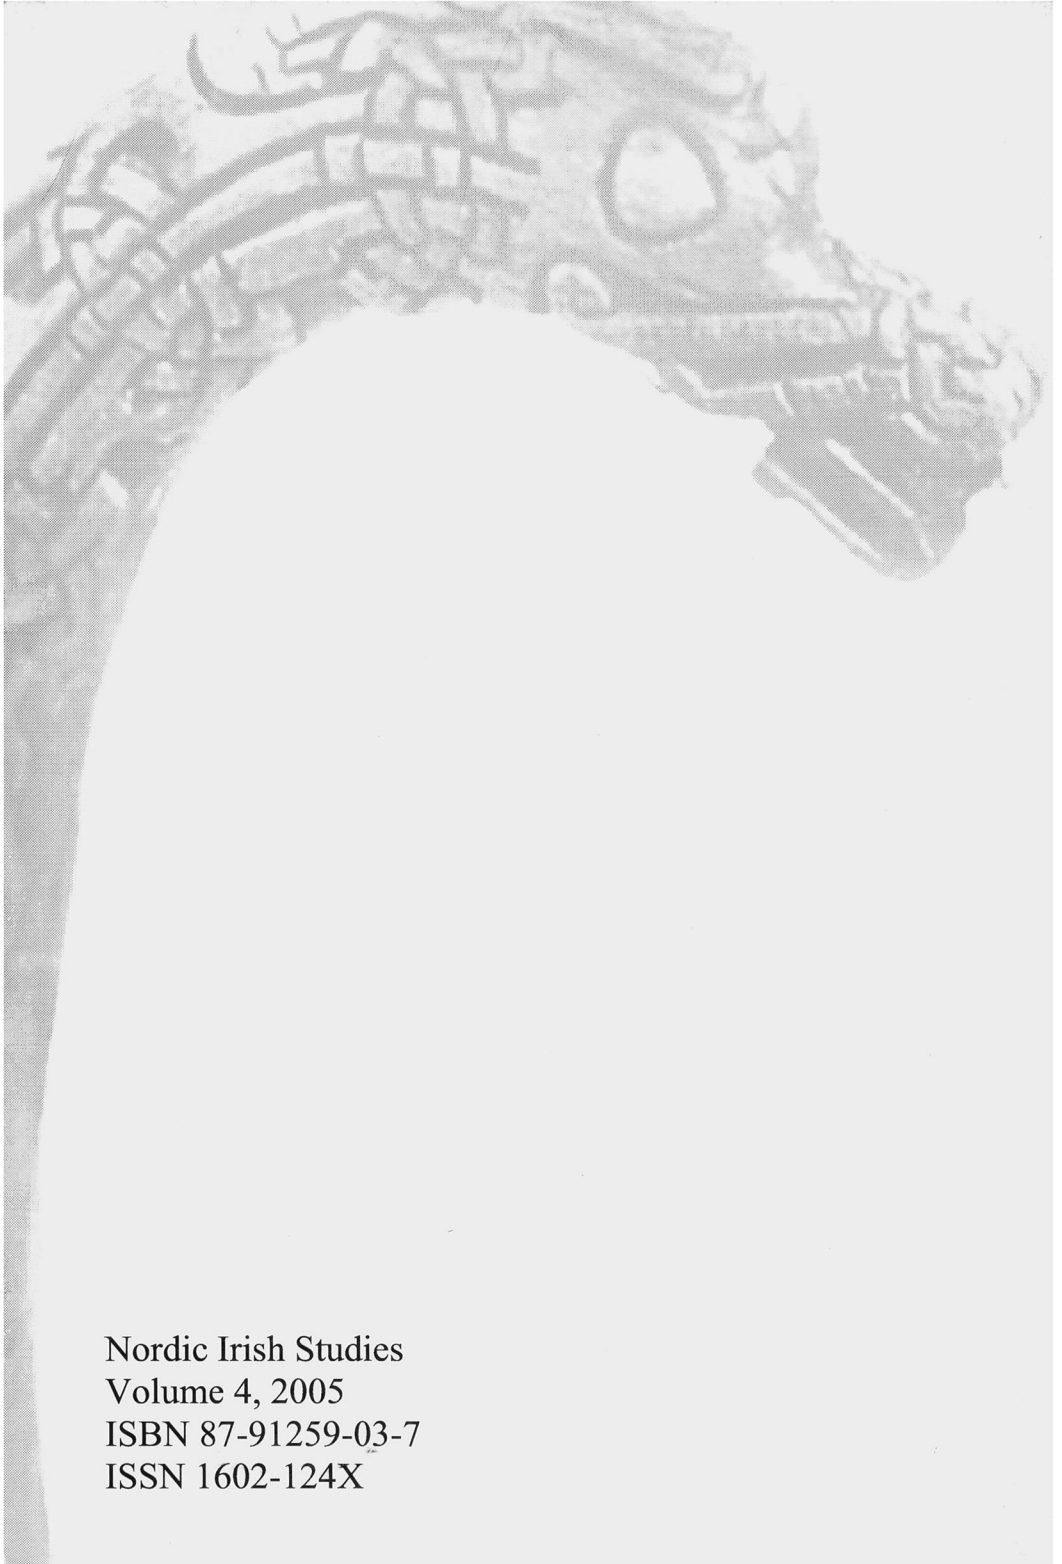

Åke Persson is Senior Lecturer in English at University College Trollhättan / Uddevalla, Sweden. He is author of Betraying the Age: Social and Artistic Protest in Brendan Kennelly's Work (Gothenburg, 2000) and is currently engaged in research on Roddy Doyle's fiction.

Hedwig Schwall is senior lecturer at the universities of Leuven and Kortrijk, Belgium. She has published mainly on Irish Literature and Psychoanalysis, but also on German poetry and philosophy.

Frank Shovlin lectures at the Institute of Irish Studies at the University of Liverpool.

Sean Swan is completing a doctoral thesis on the Official Republican Movement at the University of Ulster. He is particularly interested in nationalism, identity politics and Marxism.

Robert Christian Thomsen is a Director of the Canadian Studies Centre at University of Aarhus. He is currently completing a book on Newfoundland nationalism.

Nordic Irish Studies
Volume 4, 2005
ISBN 87-91259-03-7
ISSN 1602-124X